STRAWBERRIES ARE NOW IMPROVING

And Becoming Cheaper - Eastern Hens and Chickens Lead the Poultry Market.

STRAWBERRIES are now in much better shape and having a good sale. Some large shipments cane in from California yesterday, and, besides being much better in quality, have gone down from $3 to $2.50 per crate. Hitherto they have been too seedy to be much in demand, though some of the restaurants have offered them on the bill of fare, but have offered them on the bill of fare, but now all retailers are selling, and from this time they will continue to go up in demand and down in price.

New turnips will be the next vegetable to be imported, and it is expected that Utah growers will be sending in their green peas and beans soon.

Eastern hens and chickens occupy the chief part in the poultry market this week as the farmers have not yet been able to send in their stock since the beginning of the storms. Of course, the usual small amount of live hens is to be had.

Large shipments of fish were brought in yesterday, and saimon was in great de-nand. One or two of the wholesalers sold out in the morning, almost as soon as the supply came in. Prices remain unchanged.
